For Nearly A Year Dr. Walter Klas Has Been Planning Every Detail Of Junior High Curriculum, Operation

By Raylyn Penney

Plagued with most of the usual problems of construction and organization along with some unusual setbacks as well, Carmel's new Junior High School has at least one blessing large enough to offset some of its troubles.

Its new principal, Dr. Walter Klas, has been planning for nearly a year every detail of the operation and curriculum of the new school, so that whenever it does open, all will run as smoothly as possible.

"I had never realized before there are so many details involved in opening a school," Dr. Klas (pronounced "Class") said. "I have a recurring nightmare about school opening and on the first day we find out we've overlooked some very obvious and vital thing. I wake up thinking 'What have I forgotten?' "

In actuality, however, when the new school begins to function, the answer to what has been forgotten will probably be "very little if anything," because Dr. Klas seems to be an especially confident and capable administrator.

The very fact that he joined the district when his school was still an uncompleted sketch on an architect's work table has given him, he feels, a reason for confidence. "The most interesting and important of our plans has been the instructional program. We have taken the program of three schools and woven them into one. (Sunset and the upper grades at Tularcitos, coordinated with the high school.)

"One of the major differences between our curriculum and former junior high schedules is that we will not be offering elective subjects every day. Such things as drama and journalism will be taught only two or three times a week, but subjects requiring laboratory experience, such as science, homemaking, arts and crafts will be offered on a double-period basis. This means better distribution of time.

"Guided study periods will also

Two Lives Lost In Collision On Carmel Valley Road

A highway accident Tuesday noon on Carmel Valley Road took the lives of two Carmel Valley residents: Gregory Charles Rayne, five, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clive Rayne; and Harold Fred Janic, 40.

The little boy's mother, driver of a west-bound station wagon which was involved in a collision with a car east-bound in the wrong lane of traffic and driven by Mr. Janic, was seriously injured in the crash, which occurred at 12:18 o'clock, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Also injured, but less seriously, were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phipps of Pacific Grove, whose car, following Mrs. Rayne's station wagon, was also involved. The accident occurred near Canada Way.

Gregory Rayne was born March 21, 1957, in Carmel. In addition to his parents, he leaves two sisters, Shelley D. and Melinda Ann, both of Carmel Valley; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Rayne of Carmel; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Irene Mezger of Carmel; an uncle, Derek G. Rayne, and an aunt, Barbara Merrill.

Private funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove. The Reverend David Hill, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, will officiate.

The Paul Mortuary has been in charge of arrangements.

Friends may honor Gregory's memory with contributions to the Community Hospital Fund, P. O. Box HH, Carmel.

Mr. Janic, a science teacher at Fremont Junior High School, was born in San Jose on October 31, 1921. A resident of Monterey

School Board Has To Face Setbacks, Lowered Salaries

With construction still halted on the new Carmel Junior High School, school administrators are studying alternative plans for junior high instruction next fall, the school board learned last night.

Assistant District Superintendent Wayne Greenfield made a brief report to the board in which he said, "It is obvious we won't be able to open at the junior high as planned. The administration is therefore studying alternative plans for the board to consider."

Board member Clayton Neill, Jr., then asked, "There is a strong possibility that Sunset School will continue to operate on a junior high level?"

"This is a very strong possibility," Greenfield said.

In a discussion today with the Pine Cone, Greenfield added that a second alternative plan, one not involving use of Sunset, is also under consideration.

Board members also heard about another setback at the new school in a well-drilling report. Greenfield said the 90-foot well sunk recently on the new campus yields only some 60 gallons per minute. This is not enough, he said, for irrigation purposes at the school and a second well may have to be drilled in another location.

At the same meeting, the board adopted a compromise schedule for administrative salaries in which the two top salary steps had been chopped off in an economy effort. Before voting for the schedule, trustee Robert Newton said, "I want to explain to the administrators that budget considerations alone make it necessary for all of you to take two steps backward. I hope the situation can be made better in the future."

Under the new schedule, the salary of an assistant superintendent runs from $12,677 at Step 1 to $13,622 at Step 4; high school principal from $12,207 to $13,052; junior high principal from $11,738 to $12,583; director of recreation and directors of adult and summer school, $9,820 in Class IV to a top of $11,174 in Class V; elementary principal, $10,266 to $11,644; coordinator, high school vice principal and junior high vice principal, $9,820 to $11,174.

In a separate action, the board set the salary for the district superintendent at $15,200 for the 1962-63 school year. The 1961-62 salary had been $13,860.

In other action the board:

Two Auto Accidents This Morning, One Yesterday In Carmel

Reports of three auto accidents in and around Carmel appeared on traffic records today, two of them occurring this morning.

At 12:40 o'clock, Edward Dennis Ryan, 36, of Menlo Park, lost control of a car he was driving near Rio Road and Junipero Street in Mission Fields, and hit a tree, according to the California Highway Patrol. He was treated at a local hospital for minor injuries.

At 9:02 o'clock in a similar accident at Seventeen Mile Drive and Carmel Way, a pick-up truck belonging to Mead's Market, driven by Eddie John Flath, ran over an embankment, and flipped over on its side. The driver escaped without injury.

A pedestrian crossing Mission Street at Ocean Avenue yesterday morning at 8:55 o'clock was struck by a car and dragged some 24 feet into the intersection, according to Carmel police. She is Mrs. Alice Berg of Monterey, who suffered fractures of the pelvis and an elbow, but was later reported in "good" condition at Community Hospital.

Driver of the car which struck Mrs. Berg was Mrs. Edna L. Hoen, 86, of Carmel.

Paintings Added To City's Memorial Museum Collection

Two more paintings were accepted for the city hall memorial art museum, Forest Theater dates allocated and a budget committee named by Carmel arts commissioners yesterday afternoon.

Added to the paintings on display in the council chambers were two oils, one by the late Paul Mays, the other by the late William Silva.

The Mays painting, Golden Valley, was purchased by friends and the Carmel Art Association from Mrs. Mays and donated to the city's memorial collection. The Silva picture, Cypress Grove, was given to the city by the artist's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Abbott Silva.

Also hung in the memorial exhibit following the arts commission meeting was a painting by M. DeNeale Morgan, previously accepted as a gift from Mrs. Jeannie Klenke, sister of Miss Morgan, one of Carmel's pioneer painters.

Arts commissioners allowed the Carmel Unified School District use of the Forest Theater from 1:00-4:00 o'clock Monday through Friday afternoons of each week, starting June 25 and ending with a production of Inchling on August 10 and 11. The children's play is being produced as part of the

Caught In Traffic Tangle, Planners To Seek Release In One-Way Street Study

Carmel's business district parking tangle enskeined planning commissioners last night during a special study session to determine the need for additional parking in the commercial zone; and if needed, where it shall be provided; by whom; and of what type. The parking study is being undertaken by the commission at the request of the city council.

For a time, commissioners again considered recommending in lieu parking to the city council as a means of unravelling the knotted situation. Then they became enmeshed in the threads of esthetics and economics, finally decided the best way to approach the tangle was to review a previously council-rejected proposal for one-way street traffic circulation.

Building Inspector Floyd Adams and his assistant, Glenn Kearns, hope by mid-July to present the planning commission with a map of the business district showing every type of existing parking space; also additional spaces of every type that can be utilized, whether public or private.

Last night Adams told commissioners that progress so far on this map points out the overall demand is for short term parking as close to Ocean Avenue as possible.

The commission's secretary, Larry Rose, tabulated for the commissioners kinds of parking a city may have. These were: municipal lots; private lots, zoned parking (motels), parking districts, in lieu parking.

He stated Corona del Mar in Southern California has found the latter type of parking advantageous. By law Corona del Mar compels all commercial property to have off-street parking space either on-site or in the vicinity (in lieu.) The latter type of parking is financed by an in lieu tax assessed in accordance of the value of the land on which the required quantity of in lieu parking is provided.

Commissioner Florence Josselyn remarked Carmel already had in lieu parking and cited instances where merchants rented parking for their customers on private lots.

Chairman Fred Keeble brought up the necessary destruction of trees if parking lots, in lieu or other, spring up all over town, also if every available on-street space is utilized. He also indicated

JEFFERS MEMORIAL

Friends and admirers of the late Robinson Jeffers have started a memorial for him by contributing $2,000 to the new Community Hospital.

Dr. Arnold Manor, building completion fund chairman, said a goal of $5,000 has been set to dedicate a room at the new hospital in memory of the great poet and playwright who died in Carmel last January 20 at the age of 75.

Contributions may be sent to P. O. Box HH, Carmel. Mr. Jeffers lived on Carmel Point in Tor House on Scenic Drive for nearly 50 years.

SPECIAL LITTLE LEAGUE EVENT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Carmel Little League is introducing a special program this Sunday afternoon at the Carmel Little League Park, opening the second half of the season and in keeping with the spirit of Father's Day. The program will be started at 12:30 in a colorful flag raising ceremony with the Carmel Brownies acting as color guard. Following this and the playing of the National Anthem, all the Little League players will assemble on the field to renew their Little League Pledge under the direction of President Mark Johnston. President Johnston will honor the Pilot Market team, winners of the first half, and will give recognition to outstanding performances by players in the league.

Action on the field will feature a girls' softball game, a drawing for a $40 baseball glove donated at cost to the league by Joel Thomas of the Carmel Sport Shop, and a father-son baseball game.

LITTLE LEAGUE SECOND HALF UNDERWAY

Lee McGuckin's P. A. Macs and Newt Goodrich's Boy's Town teams jumped off to fast starts in the second half Little League Chase last week by posting impressive victories over Wilder & Jones and Turner & McEldowney. The Macs clipped the plumbers, 4 to 3, in one of the most interesting games of the season, and Boy's Town continued to show steady improvement by beating the good T & M crew, 7 to 1. Pilot Market, first-half champions, kept pace with the leaders by topping Gerald Artellan's Sport Shop, 13 to 2. Jim Kelsey's Turner & McEldowney nine bounced back from the loss to Boy's Town to edge the Sport Shop 4 to 3 in Tuesday's thriller.

First Week Standings

	Won	Lost
Boy's Town	2	0
P. A. Macs	1	0
Pilot Market	1	0
Turner & McEldowney	1	1
Wilder & Jones	0	2
Sport Shop	0	2

P. A. Macs victory over Wilder & Jones was achieved on the strength of fine pitching by Chris Laiolo and John Clancy, plus the hitting of Ken Little, Mike Filatiev and Laiolo. Jack Cate's W & J gang trailed, 4 to 1, going into the final inning, but put on a stirring rally to close the margin to 4-3 as Tony Helm and Hart Silverie checked in with vital runs. John Kimbark pitched a steady four-hitter for the plumbers and received fine support from catcher Brad Jones and third-baseman Doug Swanson. Besides playing a solid game in the field, Swanson also stroked a pair of singles in three trips to the plate.

In posting its 7-1 win over Turner & McEldowney, Newt Goodrich's Boy's Town nine swung some big bats to register nine hits off the T & M hurlers. Troy Spindler was the big noise in the clothier attack, hitting 3 for 4, one a home run, scoring two runs, and getting three rbi's. Gary Newton and Paul Lagace each garnered two hits for the clothiers, one of Lagace's blows going the distance. Besides swinging a big bat, Lagace also pitched the win for Boy's Town, allowing T & M three hits over the six-inning route.

Turner & McEldowney spotted the Sport Shop a one-run lead in the first inning, but came on strong in later innings to get over the Sports, 4 to 3. Brian McEldowney pitched the win for the brick-layers, hurling a no-hitter, but giving up seven walks. Rick Stemple, with 2-for-3 and two runs scored, was the top hitter for the winners.

Tonight's Little League action has Pilot Market going against P. A. Macs; Friday it's Turner & McEldowney against Boy's Town; and Monday finds Sport Shop attempting to hit the win column against Pilot Market.

Farm League play this Saturday has Surf & Sand matched with the American Legion at 10:00 o'clock in the morning; Carmel Plaza tests the Mission Ranch nine at noon; Village Inn and Rocky Point Lodge cross bats at 2:00 o'clock; and the Rockets go against Derek Rayne at 4:00.

Carmel Family Has Sunset, High School, College Graduates

Everyone—or practically everyone it seems — is involved with graduation this spring in the Bernard Roberts family.

Family members, including grandfather Robert Leidig, have just returned from Corvallis, Oregon, after seeing the younger Bob Leidig receive a bachelor of science degree in engineering from Oregon State University on June 3.

Tomorrow night they will gather again for Ted Leidig's graduation from Carmel High School, following the graduation of still another brother, Kim Roberts, 14, from Sunset School tonight.

Ted, named outstanding athlete this year at Carmel High for his work in track, basketball and football, and Bob, who at graduation time also received his commission as a lieutenant in the U.S. Marine Corps, are sons of Mrs. Roberts and the late Martin Leidig. Their halfbrother, Kim, will be entering Carmel High this fall at the same time Ted succeeds Bob at Oregon State, thus keeping alive a family tradition. (The father of the Leidig boys was also a graduate of Orgeon State.)

In the graduation party which traveled north for the ceremonies were, in addition to grandfather and parents, an aunt, Mrs. Jean Draper. In Corvallis they joined the graduate's bride of several months, the former Becky Gray, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Gray of Corvallis. (Bob and Becky were wed in Oregon last September.)

Bob and Becky will be in Carmel until July 1, when they begin a motor trip back to Quantico, Virginia, where Bob is due July 15 to begin a nine-month special training course.

BISHOP KIP SCHOOL EXPANDS

The Bishop Kip School, an Episcopalian elementary school temporarily located in Carmel at All Saints' Church, closed its very successful first year last week.

This coming year, second grade instruction will be offered as well as first and kindergarten. Miss Evelyn Smith will be the second grade teacher. Mrs. James Stavely will continue to teach kindergarten, and Mrs. G. Faser will again have the first grade. Mrs. David Lane is the administrative assistant, substitute teacher and assistant principal. The Reverend Peter Farmer is the headmaster.

Kindergarten enrollment for the 1962-1963 school year is full, but a few pupils can still be accepted in the first and second grades.

TRYOUTS FOR CIRCLE PLAYS ANNOUNCED

Local actors will be welcome at try-outs for two famous plays to be produced this summer at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre. Goldsmith's She Stoops to Conquer and Moliere's The School for Wives will be cast partially from talent within the community, partially from students in the theatre's summer workshop, which begins next week.

Readings for both plays will begin at 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Circle. Moliere's play will be in the hands of Frederick Rider, and will rehearse evenings beginning June 19. Goldsmith will be directed by Alvin Kaufman, visiting professor from Fresno State College, and will rehearse mornings starting June 20.

Between July 20 and August 19, the two comic classics will play alternately in two-night stands. The theatre will be open nightly except Monday during that period.

Circle Theatre's Latest Production, Iolanthe, Is Ingeniously Costumed, Has Good Acting, Dancing, Singing

Accommodating a whole operetta in the small round of the Golden Bough Circle Theatre is the extraordinary accomplishment of Ted Huffman, producer of Gilbert and Sullivan's Iolanthe, one of the favorites on the list of the world-renowned partnership. If the English satire in Iolanthe did not reach everyone's comprehension in the full house Sunday evening, or the fact that the British enjoy laughing at themselves, also being laughed at, the highly amusing comedy was carried out with all the airs and absurdities of sophisticated indulgence implicit in the rule of the Queen of the Fairies. The latter banishes Iolanthe when she marries a mortal, then pardons her only to find that all the fairies had married mortals. The Queen, herself, becomes enamoured of the sentry in front of the Houses of Parliament at Westminster.

This impossible story is filled with clever quips about well known attitudes in British law and parliamentary government, and at the same time brings out humane moral values in the peers and peri who gaily gallop to the well kept tempi of pianist Camille Olaeta, who cleverly supplies the music minus any conductor's baton.

There are no outstanding voices in the cast, but all carry principal and chorus parts with ease, even when dancing, though the close proximity of performers to audience in so small a space gave hardly room enough for perspective nuance.

Nevertheless, the performance emphasizes the solos and salient points with the lively dancing of the fairy ring, and is enhanced by costuming. A beautifully painted Arcadian backdrop, that includes the pond in which Iolanthe is supposed to live out her banishment, was not credited to anyone on the program, but deserved it.

The ingenuity of Huffman and his staff has certainly made a unique production.

The Lord High Chancellor, Roger Gray, reflected with talent the remembered comedy and dancing of Martin Green, famous so many years at the London Savoy Theatre, home of Gilbert and Sullivan.

The Lords Mountararat and Tolloller, Allen Weinfield and John Elber respectively, portrayed the ridiculous dignity and love-sick self-sacrifice of their parts effectively. The Sentry, Private Willis, in the tall form of John E. Craige, looked down on the Queen of the Fairies with condescension. The famous Fal la la song could be quickened.

Mark Vance made a good looking Strephon, the Arcadian shepherd who is half fairy and half mortal. Karen Beswick, who plays his betrothed Phyllis, thinks he is flirting with a young girl who is his mother. Her Phyllis was coy and lively.

Dorothy Knight, as The Queen of the Fairies, presented a dominating personality and strode the boards with authority and human sentiment wearing a striking white gown with long train and jeweled crown.

Renee Wurzmann as Celia, and principal dancer, carried the part with precision and distinction, with Leila and Fleta (Lynn Porter and Midge Young) in faithful attendance.

Rosamond Zammit played the heroine, Iolanthe, whose banishment, reappearance from the pond, and ultimate revelation that she was the wife of the Lord Chancellor and mother of Strephon was sung and acted with intelligence and conviction.

The choruses of dukes, marquises, earls, viscounts and barons were sung by George Chapman, Nick Hovick, Chick Hoffman, David Reed, Duncan Reed, Harold Miller and James Valentine. They all marched in the parliamentary dignity of the made-fun-of House of Lords.

In the Chorus of Fairies were Evelyn Ayres, Alison Reed, Bette Reilly, Barbara Russell, Ginny Smithson, Lisa Treat, Jacquelyn Ward, Kathy Wilson and Beth Zanides. They created the necessary illusion of their parts.

All the costumes of the cast, by Merle Huffman, were excellent. The many costume assistants and production staff are too numerous to tabulate, but can be found on the program.

Everyone should see this amusing production in coming week ends.

Council Approves Three Per Cent Tax On All Lodgings

First reading of an ordinance to levy a three per cent tax on all hotel, motel and lodging house sleeping accommodations in Carmel, starting October 1, met with the unanimous approval of the city council on June 7.

Second reading and probable adoption of the ordinance will be on July 5. Expected annual gross income to the city next year from this room tax is estimated at $52,000, according to City Clerk-Controller Larry Rose.

The lodging industry in Carmel, up till now, has paid an annual business license tax of five dollars per lodging unit. City income from this source amounted to $4,105 this past fiscal year.

The net income from the room tax, the council decided, will be allocated as follows: one-half to general capital outlay projects (including but not limited to such publicly owned off-street parking as the council may find necessary and desirable); one-half to be devoted exclusively to acquisition of greenbelt areas.

BARBECUE TONIGHT

Leo Tanous, acting president of the Carmel Business Association, says it will be warm and sunny tonight at San Clemente Dam in Carmel Valley and urges all members to attend the association's annual barbecue. A social hour, beginning at 6:30 o'clock, precedes dinner at 7:30 o'clock.

For Nearly A Year Dr. Klas Has Been Planning Junior High

be used. While there will nearly always be student groups studying in the library, there is also the possibility of studying under the guidance of a certain teacher, emphasizing that study the student most needs. Study hall will no longer be a place to herd 200 children to fill time until the next class, but a use of time to the best advantage.

"Although this system generally reflects the flexible scheduling adopted at the high school, it is in modified form, suitable to students of junior high level.

"The campus itself is a closed one, even through the noon hour, which incidentally will be only half an hour. While a student may move from one building to another for change of classes, he is under the supervision of some adult all the time. Permission may be given to students wanting to go home for lunch, but with thirty minutes to eat, we don't even anticipate much of that."

The 600-student facility, which its principal anticipates now will be about equally loaded with some 200 in each of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, is part of the Carmel Unified School District's long-range plan for equitable distribution of students in a growing community. When the present high school becomes overcrowded, the new school will be converted to high school use, the present high school campus to be used as a junior high school. The year this occurs — conceivably it could be as early as 1965—depends on rate of population increase in and around Carmel.

Asked if the carefully planned junior high set-up, which Dr. Klas helped formulate with the cooperation of other teachers and administrators involved, especially High School Principal Warren Edwards, will suffer in the future from change of location, Dr. Klas said no. "On the contrary, it should benefit. The present high school could be adapted excellently to junior high use, the laboratory and shop space giving us additional advantages."

And how does a principal, new in the community, with his school not yet built, decide what he'll need for that school with certainty? "It's more a case of deciding what to leave out," Dr. Klas said. "We have some equipment and material from Sunset and elsewhere. So we have asked ourselves what we need; then we ask ourselves what we have, and subtract.

"But we depend heavily on opinions of classroom teachers, and are bearing in mind that if we have the necessary items we are sure we need, the extra things can be acquired later. It's far better this way than guesswork and over-purchasing."

With the curriculum ready, and most of the staff selected, the new school, which is located at the mouth of Carmel Valley across from the Rancho Rio Vista neighborhood, still balances precariously on a series of "ifs," as the current school year closes.

For instance, if the classrooms on the new campus are still not complete enough for occupancy by fall, the junior high classes will convene somewhere else, probably at Sunset School, until the new school is ready later in the term, possibly at the semester break. How long would it take to move into a new school and begin classes?

"It could be done over a week end," Dr. Klas is sure. "The ability of teachers and children to adapt to new surroundings seems phenomenal to people who haven't seen it. We would probably call on everyone to help in the moving. Whole libraries have been moved in an hour with a little cooperation. And we'll have no problem of willingness."

This staff will include Vice Principal Dan Yurkovich, two counsellors and 30 teachers, some of whom will be shared personnel with the high school.

Dr. Klas himself moved to the Carmel area last fall from Hayward, where he lived while employed in San Leandro schools for the past 11 years.

Earlier in his life, having attended Colome, South Dakota, schools, he enrolled in the South Dakota School of Mines, and entered military service as an engineer. While in the army he also attended the University of Wisconsin and was assigned to the Office of Strategic Services.

Following World War II, he obtained a bachelor of science degree at the University of Idaho, majoring in science and math, and later served as high school principal at Cascade, Idaho. In Alameda, California, he taught at sixth and eighth grade levels, while completing work toward a master's degree in curriculum at Stanford University before going to San Leandro.

In 1959 he received a doctorate in curriculum and school administration from the University of California. While serving as principal of a K-7 school in San Leandro, he taught supervision, administration and curriculum courses for three summers in Cortland, New York. He has also taught a course in educational evaluation in the evening division of Holy Name College.

Among his duties for the Carmel district, along with planning for the new school, he has worked at the request of Superintendent Stuart Mitchell toward setting up a program for gifted children. The program is expected to become a reality in Carmel schools soon.

Other members of the Klas family, who now make their home in Carmel Valley at 90 Ford Road, are Dr. Klas's wife, Nellie, and three daughters, Barbara, 15, a Carmel High School sophomore; Janice, 11, soon to be a fifth grader at Tularcitos, and Susan, 10, a fourth grader. The girls also have a brother, Bill, one.

Opening a completely new school on a spot of ground which was nothing but a meadow short months ago, is an opportunity, Dr. Klas says, which has been rewarding and exhilarating and which he is sure will occur only once in his lifetime. Although he didn't say so, perhaps once in a lifetime for this sort of challenge is enough.

school district's summer recreation program.

The Carmel Elementary P-TA was granted use of the city-owned outdoor theater on July 7 for a P-TA benefit performance of Little Red Riding Hood by the White Oaks Children's Theatre.

Richard Lofton, chairman pro tem because of the absence of the regular chairman, Mrs. Fritz Wurzmann, appointed Mrs. Wurzmann to head a budget committee with Commissioners Geza St. Galy and Rupert Leach the other members. The committee will bring in a tentative 1962-63 budget for the commission at the July 11 commission meeting.

Glenn Kearns, ex-officio member of the commission, reported no funds had been realized from last Sunday's benefit performance at the Forest Theater to support free programs presented by the commission each week end this summer.

"We broke even," was his comment on the Herb Miller Concert in the Forest benefit.

Harold Smithson

Harold Smithson, art connoisseur and critic who for many years was owner and manager of the Artists Guild of America gallery in Carmel, died early today at a local hospital.

Born June 4, 1898, in Louisville, Kentucky, he made his home for 16 years in Carmel, at San Antonio and Ocean, and started the Guild here on Monte Verde Street with his late sister.

Among survivors is his wife, Mrs. Laura Smithson, whom he married some seven years ago.

In addition to a wide-spread reputation in the world of art as an authority on the Old Masters, he was also a pioneer in the radio field, having started the first radio stations in both Redding and Chico, where he lived before coming to Carmel.

He was a veteran of World War I, and a member of the B'Nai Brith, David Lubin Lodge No. 37, Sacramento.

Local arrangements are in charge of Paul's Mortuary, with plans pending for funeral services in San Francisco at a day and time to be announced later.

Thank You, Voters of Monterey County

This is a sincere thank you to each and every voter of Monterey County whose vote places me on the ballot in November. I only wish that I could shake your hand and express my gratitude personally.

It has been a most gratifying experience to feel the support of the people: those who urged me to run, those who signed my petition and those who gave me continuing encouragement throughout the campaign by their intensive efforts in behalf of my candidacy. But you, the voters from all over the county, are the ones who make it possible for me to go on to complete the task.

The confidence that you have placed in me and the great responsibility that you have placed on me are most sobering. I shall continue to work from now until election day in November that we may realize our goals for the children and youth of Monterey County.

Superintendent of Schools of Monterey County

Security State Bank This Summer Will Open Carmel Branch

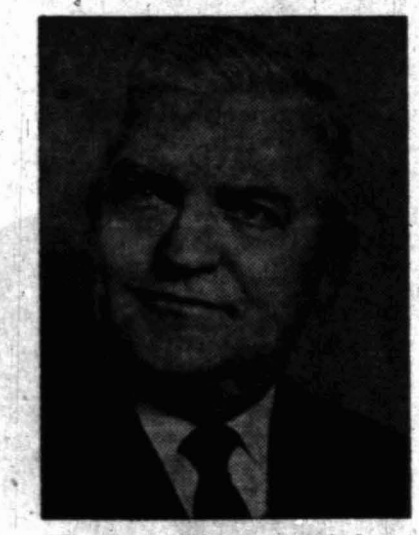

Last Friday, James Saxton, Comptroller of the Currency, announced in Washington, D.C., that the Security State Bank of Pacific Grove will change its name to the Security National Bank of Monterey County, also has been authorized to establish a branch at the Carmel Rancho shopping center south of Carmel Valley, another in Marina.

The local branch of Monterey County's only home-owned, independent bank will open in August, William A. Burkett, president of the bank, promises.

He adds that the change to the national system will mean an increase in capital and membership in the Federal Reserve system and that these measures will give more security to depositors.

Burkett purchased the controlling interest in the bank last April. During the past seven months deposits have increased from $2½ million to $5,004,627, and the total number of depositors doubled. Security State Bank is the only bank in California which is open on Saturdays. Week days the bank's hours are 8:00 o'clock in the morning until 5:30 in the afternoon.

Burkett also states that additional bank directors will be selected locally and that $200,000 of the bank's stock will be released for sale to local depositors during the next few weeks.

How scientific prayer helps to support righteous government will be brought out in a free public lecture to be given in Carmel on June 21 by Charles Louis Reilly of Los Angeles.

Mr. Reilly, who is on extensive tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in the church edifice, Monte Verde near 6th at 8:00 in the evening. His subject will be, Christian Science: True Government Revealed Through Prayer.

A Christian Science teacher and practitioner, Mr. Reilly is a native of Saint Paul, Minnesota. He gave up a musical career as a concert pianist in 1940 to devote his full time to the practice of Christian Science healing. In 1955 he became an authorized Christian Science teacher. For eight years he was Christian Science Committee on Publication for Southern California He served as the moderator of a number of Christian Science television programs which have been seen throughout the United States, Canada, Australia, and other countries.

MPC MAGAZINE PUBLISHED

Among contributors to the 54-page booklet are the following persons from the Carmel area: Ron Adams, Katherine Bliss, Gay Coggin, Nancy Jean Conley, Hannah Fletcher, Ron Gullickson, Ronald Kent, Ann Krueger, Marcia McGinnis, Anthony B. Pratt and Mary Wu.

Staff members include Ann Barnard and Gay Coggin of Carmel. Contributions are poetry, prose, reproductions of paintings in full color, photographs, drawings, photography of sculpture, and a silk screen frontispiece which was handprinted for each copy by the e.g. staff.

BACH FESTIVAL TICKETS SELLING OUT

Although single tickets for the Bach Festival July 20-29 have only been on sale since June 1, already tickets for a number of the performances are at a premium.

The July 24 concert, Concerto and Concerto Grosso, is sold out, and tickets for the Flowering of Late Baroque Orchestra Style in the works of J. S. Bach, July 23, are now available only in the top price range.

Although tickets for the first week of the season, July 20-26, have been sold out in the bottom bracket, there is still a good selection of seats at all prices for the second week end, and for many of the other concerts in the higher price range.

The box office, which is located on San Carlos between Ocean Avenue and Seventh Avenue, now is open Monday through Friday from 10:00 o'clock in the morning to 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon. Reservation requests may be addressed to Carmel Bach Festival, Box 503, Carmel, or made by telephoning MA 4-1521.

Serenity Is Keynote Of Tassajara Resort, According To Becks

There's still a challenge "in them thar hills," according to Bob and Anna Beck, who operate Tassajara Hot Springs resort situated in a cleft of the coast range.

The Becks call their place an old spa at the end of a miserable mountain road and emphasize that television reception is nil, radio only fair.

Situated in a wilderness area, west of Carmel Valley, the hot springs steam from the hillside as they did when the coastal Indians bathed in them long before the invasion of North America by Europeans. Fish still jump in the valley's clear, running stream. In addition to the sulphur baths, there's a swimming pool.

At the turn of the century, Salinas, Monterey and Carmel area families made Tassajara Springs a fashionable resort. They used horses as the motive power to gain access over the hills. Today the road is a challenge to automobiles, drivers and passengers.

But the Becks maintain Tassajara primarily as a place in which persons may "unwind" in sunshine and serenity, and have removed even the challenge of the road. If arrangements are made, they will drive guests into the remote valley by station wagon.

Many of the old buildings have been completely renovated and redecorated this winter, and the Becks plan to have special events for weekend visitors during the summer months.

Music On The Peninsula

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

The Aptos Woodwind Quintet, Patricia Hambleton and Frank Langone, flutists; Richard Grauel, oboe; Donald O'Brian, clarinet; Fred Bergstrom, horn, conducted by Robert Hughes, bassoon; and Joan Goodwin, pianist, gave an interesting program of contemporary composers at Monterey Peninsula College last Saturday.

Except for the late Wallingford Riegger, whose third symphony won the New York Music Critics' award in 1948, they were resident composers in or near our locality. Lansdale Podberewski and Philippe Buhler live in Pacific Grove, and Lou Harrison and Robert Hughes at Aptos,

A small group of music patrons who listened to the newer language of atonality and the 12-tone scale, found it not too easy to follow the logical (or illogical) sequences. Nevertheless, as experimentation, the general tonalities were intriguing and persistent, though hardly melodically articulate for heartfelt sentiment.

Where the piano was employed, as in Podberewski's Spacial Disturbance, and Riegger's Concerto for Piano, form, rhythm and intention were more rounded. Podberewski's work, heard for a second time, quite enhanced my first impression of a worthwhile contribution to contemporary composition. It showed strong character and competent workmanship as well as a distinct impression of space. It should be heard everywhere.

Three Cowboy Songs by Hughes also carried out a satisfactory tonal intention and character. Also Philippe Buhler's French Suite, heard for the second time, has some of his best writing to date.

Lou Harrison's Schoenbergiana, in three movements, is full of intricate and abstruse writing, without punctuation, overcrowded, and becomes a seeming conglomeration. At the same time, cleverness is there if viewed from the intellectual standpoint, and though now we comprehend the works of those composers who formerly shocked us, pioneers of their day, music of intellectual construction without any emotional feeling is hardly music. Harrison was happier and more effective in his Serenade for Strings that opened the program.

Riegger's Piano Concerto with pianist Joan Goodwin at the keyboard was a stirring performance of his developed 12-tone system.

After all, any new language is not sufficiently understandable without the knowledge of its grammar, and those who attended the contemporary concert on Saturday applauded the group with enthusiasm. More local composers' concerts should be given.

Joel Andrews, harpist, and Raymond Fabrizio, flutist, were heard in a joint program at Nepenthe Sunday afternoon. It was Nepenthe's last concert of the Spring season and a rare occasion to hear a combination seldom presented. These two fine artists are sympathetic and drew a good house with their outstanding brilliancy and musical feeling.

I have formerly listened many times to the famous Barrere and other distinguished flutists in New York, but cannot remember anything that surpassed the facility, tenderness or exuberance with which Fabrizio delivered every piece with excellent musicianship, and Andrews is the finest harpist we have had here.

It is a positive luxury to be a harpist because of the difficulties of transporting the instrument, necessary constant tuning and the patience required for perfecting the technique, but it brings rewards in the liquid, penetrating tones made possible with strong fingers and musical perception. This Andrews, in full degree, exhibited in the fluency of the Bach Bouree and Handel's Harmonious Blacksmith.

Opening with a Sonata by Marcello for flute with a bass accompaniment, Andrews' own arrangement, and a set of smaller pieces by Andrews and the famous harpist, Salzedo, Andrews exhibited various aspects of harping. Little music is written expressly for harp but Andrews played two sixteenth century Spanish pieces so written by Pibanez and Porlero. Fabrizio gave Hindemith's eight un-accompanied solo pieces with distinction. Both artists enthralled their audience.

NANCY PENOYER HONORED

Nancy Penoyer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Penoyer, was chosen to deliver the address of welcome to His Eminence James Francis Cardinal McIntyre at Marymount College's commencement exercises, in which she was a member of the graduating class.

Nancy also won the gold medal for theater arts, and was named to the Dean's List for academic excellence. She will work in television and motion pictures in Hollywood this summer, and plans to continue an acting career after her marriage in September to Fred C. Blau, Jr.

Alice Hof

Mrs. Samuel Hof, widow of Major General Samuel Hof and mother of Mrs. Lawrence R. Blinks of Rancho Aguajito, died Monday at Fort Ord Hospital. She was 89 years old.

Mrs. Hof had lived in Carmel for the past 18 years. Her home was at Lincoln and Eighth. Her husband, former chief of ordnance, U.S. Army, preceded her in death in 1937.

Mrs. Hof, whose name was Alice Mayo prior to her marriage to, then, Lieutenant Hof in 1900, was born in 1873 in New Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, but spent much of her girlhood in Cambridge, Massachusetts, where her father, a mining engineer, moved his family shortly after her birth.

General and Mrs. Hof, during his long military career, were stationed at various ordnance depots in this country and the Philippine Islands, and lived at several different times in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Hof made her home in Palo Alto prior to moving to Carmel.

In addition to Mrs. Blinks, survivors include a grandson, Dr. John Blinks of Milton, Massachusetts, and two great granddaughters.

Private funeral services were held on Tuesday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove, prior to memorial services and interment in the United States Military Cemetery at West Point, New York.

The Paul Mortuary has been in charge of local arrangements.

Boys And Girls Asked To Try Out For Parts In Forest Theater Production

Tryouts for Inchling, the children's play which will be given at the city's Forest Theater in August, will be held on June 27, according to the Carmel Unified School District recreation committee, sponsors of the production.

On that date, from 1:00 - 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon at the Forest Theater, Mrs. Richard Lofton, Inchling director, will meet with any boy or girl between the ages of 8-18 who wishes to act, sing, dance, make costumes, help with lighting, stage sets and properties for the fourth Inchling production.

The three-act fantasy has parts for 40-50 young people. Some of them will impersonate leaves, butterflies, ants, beetles, lightning bugs, others a band of evil mosquitoes. A 30-foot worm will need motive power, also challenge creative ability. Construction of an "infernal machine" will be of interest to boys who like to build machinery. Principal parts will also be assigned to those who go to the Forest Theater two weeks from today.

The Carmel Business Association is supporting the community project by providing funds for the printed programs. Any adult who wishes to take part in the production of the play is asked to get in touch with Mrs. Lofton.

Inchling was first presented at the Forest Theater in 1922, again in 1928, and for the third time in 1936. The play was written especially for production at the Forest Theater by the late Ira Remsen, an associate of Eugene O'Neill at the Provincetown Playhouse, who later came to live in Carmel. The play later was produced by Maurice Brown in London and Adriene Morison in New York.

DEAN LEAVITT TO GO TO ETHIOPIA

Dr. Linden G. Leavitt, Jr., dean of the Monterey Peninsula College evening division since 1955, will assume a new title and duties August 1. On that date he will become "director of general studies" at Haile Selassie I University in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

Confirmation of the new appointment came this week via telephone calls from Ethiopia and U.S. Agency for International Development headquarters in Washington, D.C., according to Leavitt—and his contract is "on its way."

Leavitt presented his resignation from MPC at a board of trustees meeting last evening.

CARMEL STUDENTS WIN MPC SCHOLARSHIPS

Several students from the Carmel area have received scholarships at Monterey Peninsula College. Jack Young is the recipient of the $200 Hogan Club award, also a Bank of America Business Award, $100. He plans to major in business administration at Sacramento State College next year.

Jearren Stallings was awarded a Kiwanis International scholarship, $150, by the Monterey Kiwanis Club to major in biological science and work toward a general secondary teaching credential at San Jose State College.

Joanne Kinion will attend Santa Clara University and has won the Monterey City Teachers' Association $300 scholarship.

Wanda Carlyn Robinson has two scholarships to aid her in continuing studies in mathematics at the University of California at Davis. They are a University of California Regents' Award, $1,500, and a $200 Panhellenics scholarship.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How spiritual understanding of God brings freedom from weariness and fatigue will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Preserver of Man" will include this verse from Isaiah (40): "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

One of the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 217): "The scientific and permanent remedy for fatigue is to learn the power of Mind over the body or any illusion of physical weariness, and so destroy this illusion, for matter cannot be weary and heavy-laden."

The Golden Text is from Psalm 91: "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty."

at how many different ways we make electricity these days. The power that pulses through your home may be generated by falling water, fuel oil, natural gas, a geyser—even the atom! No other utility company makes so much electricity in so many different ways —at such reasonable rates. The price of PG&E gas and electricity in a typical home is 8% less than it was 30 years ago!

Mrs. Wilgress's son, Oliver, also a Serra School graduate, is currently half way through a two-year work period in Tanganyika, Africa, with the American Friends' Service Committee. Frank and Boz Leave for East

Taking off in a "late middle-aged" station wagon, Frank Palmer, Jr., and Boz Williams left Carmel Tuesday for a summer on the East coast. On their way they will stop off in Denver to visit Paul Stuart, a Carmel High School classmate.

Frank, who has just finished his sophomore year at the University of California at Berkeley, will have a job at Queen's College, New York, as laboratory assistant in the psychology department.

Boz will join his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw Williams, near Baddeck, Nova Scotia, for the summer with plans to attend the University of California in Berkeley in the fall.

Frank's mother, Mrs. John Ruster of Carmel, says the travelers have promised to telephone home when they reach New York, or when the station wagon breaks down, whichever comes first.

Carmel Crafts Guild

Members of the Carmel Crafts Guild, at their monthly meeting Friday evening in the Carmel Art Association Gallery, listened to Eve Bell discuss the process of making ceramic figures and portraits. Mrs. Bell gave a demonstration of her work with a life-size head of her husband, Frank Bell, which she was in the process of making, and showed several already completed portrait heads. First modeling the head in clay of which a mold is taken, Mrs. Bell then casts it in ceramic, and after it is fired often finishes it with a metallic glaze resembling bronze.

The guild also welcomed as a new member Mrs. Ruth Wingfield, a weaver, whose home is at Yankee Point.

The Greenes Are Back To Stay

Recently returned to Carmel after 14 years abroad, the last five of those years in Arabia, are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Greene. "Did" Greene, the son of Mrs. Charles Sumner Greene and the late Mr. Greene, who spent his boyhood in Carmel, has retired from his position with an international oil company, and he and his wife are building a house in the upper Hatton Ranch area of Carmel Valley.

Their years abroad took the Greenes to Genoa, Rome, London and The Hague before they lived in Arabia, and although they have visited this country and Carmel every two years on leave, "we decided it was time to come back here to live," comments Mrs. Greene. Their son, Philip, is connected with an air line company in San Francisco.

New Book By Ken Kraft

Big Sur writer, Ken Kraft, has written a new book, Give Father A Hard Knock (sub-titled An Object Lesson in Family Turnabout), which will be published tomorrow. It is the humorous account of what happened when the author's father asked his two adult sons and his daughter-in-law to share his home. Mr. Kraft has written for many magazines; his last book was The Birds And The Beasts Were There.

Symphony Future Uncertain Unless Support Forthcoming

Fletcher Dutton was elected president of the Monterey County Symphony Association at the annual meeting last night at the Carmel High School Auditorium. Also elected for the 1962-63 season were Mrs. Walter Jennings, first vice president; Harold Iverson, second vxice president; King Benton, third vice president; Nihla Knight, recording secretary; Mrs. Walter Williams, corresponding secretary, and Chandler Smith, treasurer.

Other business included year-end reports by committee chairmen, among them results of the association's recent Symphony Week ticket sales and fund-raising campaign, indicating that the symphony faces an uncertain future unless its rising operating costs can be met by increased community support.

Although the orchestra has just completed its most successful season to date, it was noted that less than half of the orchestra's yearly budget. ($16,000) can be met by earned income, and that ticket sales alone cannot support the orchestra.

Both memberships and ticket sales are far short of their goals. Of 640 available season tickets, only 378 have been sold, totalling $4,049.50. Current results of the membership drive are even more discouraging, with only 10 per cent of the 600-member goal realized. Total funds raised from memberships for 1962-63 are $1,981, which includes the $1,000 contribution of two new life members.

During the past season, the symphony received enthusiastic public and critical endorsement, and both proficiency and number of players increased. The orchestra has scheduled for next season a five-concert series in Carmel and Salinas, plus free youth concerts, and a free chamber concert series. However, the board of directors, while agreeing to the 1962-63 schedule, indicated that unless greater community support could be assured the orchestra, a revision in plans for future seasons might be necessary.

ORDINANCE NO. 45 C. S.

AN ORDINANCE DETERMINING THE NECESSITY OF ACQUIRING CERTAIN LAND FOR PUBLIC PARK PURPOSES AND ESTABLISHING INTENTION TO ACQUIRE SAME

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN as follows:

Section 1. That it is hereby determined that it is necessary and proper for the city to acquire certain lands more particularly described hereinafter for public park purposes, the City Council finding in that connection as follows:

a) Such lands are conveniently adjacent to the corporate city limits, PARCEL I being south of and contiguous to the southern boundary of the city as it extends westward from Scenic Road to the shore line of the Pacific Ocean, and PARCEL II being southwest of and contiguous to PARCEL I.

b) That said lands consist of a relatively small segment of property lying between city-owned property consisting of beach lands extending generally to the southwest and to the northeast of said lands, and comprising, together with said lands, an area commonly referred to as the Carmel Beach.

c) That all of said city-owned land, and the property determined to be acquired herein, consist of beach lands adjacent to Carmel Bay, commonly used by residents of the city and transients staying therein for normal beach and park activities, and all of said land is included in the city's general plan as a natural park area.

d) That the separation of city-owned beach lands by the land determined to be acquired herein has the effect of isolating one portion of the city beach from the other; and creates undesirable problems in connection with policing, regulating and maintaining the city-owned beach, both from the standpoint of legal accessibility, and the application of uniform regulations over an area that to the naked eye appears to be one beach, although the property determined to be acquired herein is not under city jurisdiction.

Section 2. That the city hereby determines its intention to acquire the property hereinafter described.

Section 3. The property heretofore determined to be necessary and proper for the city to acquire, and which the city has determined its intention to acquire, is situate in the County of Monterey, State of California, more particularly described as follows:

PARCEL I

That certain strip of land lying between the Scenic Road and the shore line of the Pacific Ocean; and bounded on the Northern end by the Southern line of Santa Lucia Avenue projected Westerly to the shore of the Pacific Ocean, and on the Southwestern end by the southwest boundary of the property described in the deed from Henry R. Bell, et ux, to Virginia Bell Park, an unmarried woman, dated March 20, 1958, and recorded March 24, 1958, in Volume 1858 of Official Records of Monterey County at page 182 extended Northwesterly to the shore line of the Pacific Ocean; said Scenic Road and said Santa Lucia Avenue being shown on that certain map entitled, Map of "Addition No. 7 Carmel-by-the-Sea, Monterey County, Cal., Surveyed April & May 1908 by H. B. Fisher, Surveyor & C. E.," filed for record May 4, 1910 in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Monterey, State of California, in Volume 2 of Maps, "Cities and Towns," at page 24.

PARCEL II

That certain strip of land lying between Scenic Road and the shore line of the Pacific Ocean and bounded on the Northerly end by the Northerly boundary of the property firstly described in the deed from Helen V. Broekhoff, formerly Helen V. Reid to Floyd C. Dillon, et ux, dated April 2, 1945, and recorded April 6, 1945, in Volume 864 of Official Records of Monterey County at page 179 produced Westerly so as to intersect said shore line, and on the Southerly end by the line dividing Lots 4 and 6 in Block B 17, as said road, lots and Block are shown on that certain map entitled, Map of "Addition No. 7 Carmel-by-the-Sea, Monterey County, Cal., Surveyed April & May 1908 by H. B. Fisher, Surveyor & C. E.," filed for record May 4, 1910 in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Monterey, State of California, in Volume 2 of Maps, "Cities and Towns," at page 24 produced Westerly so as to intersect said shore line of the Pacific Ocean.

Section 4. Effective Date. This Ordinance shall become effective thirty (30) days after its final passage and adoption.

AN AUSTRIAN CHALET

THE CRISP WALK ON THE BEACH was wonderful. Now, while your guests gather round the middle-of-the-room fireplace, you set out a fondue or a buffet supper (previously prepared in the big, modern kitchen) on the quarry tile counters of the butler's pantry. Then enjoy with your guests the fine acoustics which the cathedral ceiling and paneled walls provide for your stereophonic equipment. When the last embers die, you retire to your own suite and your guests to theirs, in a separate end of the house. Next morning, breakfast in the sunny South patio. This is a sociable house—a house to live in, a house to love, and one which will delight your family and friends with its originality (and carefree maintenance) for years to come. Price? That's the best part—only $35,000—and in one of Carmel's most prestigous neighborhoods. Why not call now for the delightful details?

Planners To Seek Release In One-Way Street Traffic Study

that more on-street parking would mean additional levelling, widening and paving, thus destroying Carmel's "pleasant streets."

Mrs. Josselyn remarked that parking should not eliminate "anything that beautifies the city."

Continuing with in lieu discussion, Adams stated that the Leidig private off-street parking lot, according to the owner, was so poorly patronized that it did not warrant investment in the land provided.

Commissioner Hugh Smith then queried whether Carmel really does need more parking in the business district, or whether, instead, we have a traffic circulation problem.

He declared, "I would rather look at old single family dwellings in the business district than a group of cars on landscaped lots." He was referring to a previous statement by Adams that 60 old single-family dwellings still exist in the business zone.

Adams also said a traffic circulation study might aid the commission when they consider his coming report. Knowledge of traffic patterns might determine exactly where parking may be most needed.

Keeble emphasized parking lots did not seem economically or esthetically feasible and proposed reviewing traffic circulation.

Earlier Commissioner William Godwin suggested consideration of one-way streets as a means of eliminating traffic congestion caused by persons driving round and round a block until a parking place is available.

At the end of the study session he also recommended re-evaluation of existing time-limit parking and suggested looking into possible use of Sunset School grounds for all-day off-street parking.

"Its so far out no businessman will walk that far," Smith commented.

School Board Has To Face Setbacks, Lower Salaries

Warren Edwards prepared by him and architect Thomas Elston on needed security measures for the boys' locker room at the school. The locker situation could be improved by expenditure of $6,195, or other needed improvements also included at a total cost of $8,500.

Adopted a classified employes' salary schedule which ranges from $231 per month to $640 for an employe with 10 years' service at the highest step and range.

Heard a report from Superintendent Stuart Mitchell on safety at Sunset School showing that safety requirements established by fire authorities had been complied with in 1951 and again in 1956, and that the auditorium is now the subject of a safety study with a report due at a later date.

Accepted a gift painting, a Carmel Valley landscape, from Mr. and Mrs. Sidney L. Williams for Tularcitos School.

After reconsideration of the salary rates for home teachers, approved a schedule the same as for the adult school faculty. (For one and two years' seniority, $5; for three and four, $5.50; for five and over, $6.00 per hour.)

Approved courses of study for elementary, junior high, senior high, summer school and adult education for next year.

Set the board's annual organizational meeting for Monday, July 2, at 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon in the Arthur Holman music building at the high school.

Ratified the employment of Miss Sandra Jackson, junior high home arts teacher, and John Waldron, junior high Spanish instructor.

Set a budget study session for June 20, at 8:00 o'clock in the music building.

Passed a resolution memorializing the late Howard Reed, who had served the district for many years as financial advisor.

Sunset Graduates Of 25 Years Ago Return For Commencement

Almost one-third of the graduates of Sunset School in 1937 will attend commencement ceremonies at the school tonight. The graduates of 25 years ago will each wear carnations presented to them by the Class of 1962 and be seated in reserved seats at the front of the auditorium, also be accorded a salute from the Class of 1962 during the program.

The members of the Class of 1937 will represent all former graduates of Sunset School at what will probably be the last eighth grade graduation exercises at Carmel's oldest school. Plans are, in future, to operate Sunset as a kindergarten through sixth grade facility.

The 1937 graduate who will have come the farthest to tonight's commencement will be Mrs. Madelaine McDonogh Mills of Billings, Montana. Mrs. Emma Wishart Hill will have traveled from San Anselmo; Dr. Anne Millis Leavenworth from Fresno, Mrs. Alice Vidoroni Bevan from Berkeley. Other 1937 graduates expected at the ceremonies are Arthur Strasburger, Mrs. Yvonne Mercurio Holtzhauer, Charles Gansell, Mrs. Carol Larson Reams, Mrs. Lillian Ohm Hazdovac, Donald Berry, Orville Jones, Jr., Colden Whitman and Mrs. Marjorie Hoyt Milton.

Mrs. Ernest J. Atter, school nurse in 1937, will be included among the honored guests of the Class of 1962.

The graduation ceremony starts at 8:00 o'clock.

Young Carmel Artist Has One-Man Show In San Francisco

The work of one of Carmel's very young, very promising painters, Diana Law, is on exhibit in a one-man show this month at the Maxwell Galleries, 551 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

Diana, who in private life is Mrs. James Allen Russell, grew up on the Monterey Peninsula, studied art in Switzerland and at the Carmel Art Institute.

A native San Franciscan, Diana recently returned from two years' residence in Germany and much of the work in her current show takes its motif from her European experience.

Diana, who was born in 1940, attended Santa Catalina School in Monterey, and Brillantmont in Lausanne, Switzerland, before beginning her art training. Despite her youthfulness, she has won much acclaim for her work over the past several years. Her first local show was two years ago at the Hidden Village galleries in Monterey.

The artist and her husband are currently visiting for two months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hartland Law of Carmel, after which they will go to Marysville, Tennessee, where Allen will study English at Marysville College.

The show, which is being displayed in the new "young collectors' room" at the San Francisco gallery, will remain through July 1.

NEW BUILDING INSPECTOR

Glenn Kearns is ending his association with the architectural firm of Burde, Shaw and Kearns, on July 1 to be a full-time Carmel assistant building inspector.
